PÁLINKÁK

HUNGARIAN FRUIT BRANDIES

Pálinka is a traditional fruit brandy. Only fruit spirits mashed, distilled, matured and bottled in Hungary may carry the name „Pálinka”. The most common pálinkas are made from apricots, pears, and plums. Other fruits that are often used are sour cherries, apples, mulberries and quince. The traditional double distillation process results in a strong alcohol content of 40 to 70 percent. The quality of pálinka is largely influenced by the quality of the fruits used, hence the distiller has to choose good quality fruits with a rich taste. Pálinka should be served at 18-20°C, because it is at this temperature that the fine smell and taste of the fruits can be best enjoyed.
